Update on US market expansion

EKF Diagnostics Holdings plc (AIM: EKF), a growing business within the in-vitro diagnostic devices market, provides an update on developments as the Company grows its market share in the US haemoglobin testing market.

Waiver Granted Notification

EKF has now received notification from the US Food and Drug Administration that the application for CLIA waived status in relation to the Stanbio HemoPoint H2 Hemoglobin Measurement System has been accepted, having modified the name to the Alere HemoPoint H2 Hemoglobin Measurement System. This will allow Alere Inc., the exclusive distributor of EKF's HemoPoint H2 product, to begin sales into the US market.

US Patent

EKF has also received a notice of allowance from the US Patent and Trademark Office in relation to patent rights for the cuvettes that are used with the HemoPoint H2 product. It is expected that a Grant of Patent Rights will be issued shortly following the payment of due fees.

Commenting, Julian Baines, CEO of EKF Diagnostics Holdings plc, said:
"Whilst the granting of the CLIA waived notification might be seen as a formality it is a necessary step to allow Alere to sell our HemoPoint H2 product into the US market. With Alere's strong customer relationships and clear expertise in this market, we are confident that we will gain considerable market share in the US one of the largest haemoglobin markets in the world."
